Seneschals Report

Greetings Unto the Populace of Caerthe,

In recent months I have had many discussions regarding the finances of the barony. Indeed, since June we have allocated money for memorial trees and royal thrones. We have also been looking for an all encompassing fighter site that would likely result in another significant outlay from the barony. All this has been done against a backdrop in which we are not raising large amounts of funds. Given these facts, I can certainly understand why some concerns have been raised.

There, however, is no need to be concerned. The financial footing of the barony is very sound! Our current reserves exceed our yearly expenses. In taking on new expenditures, such as the royal thrones, the impact upon the finances of the barony is indeed evaluated. Rest assured that if an expenditure would hamper the operations of the barony, that I, along with the other members of the financial committee, would see to it that the funds for such a project were raised in an alternate way.

Furthermore, the limited fundraising is purposeful. A number of people have expressed that the current state of the economy and personal finances has forced them to decrease SCA expenditures. The decrease in baronial fundraising is being done to address that situation. For example, at both the last Twelfth Night and the upcoming Twelfth Night, gate fees have been reduced to $8 for early registration. Eight dollars is less than an evening movie showing at some theaters! It is also less than the cost of many other events. Day-tripping to this past Crown tournament, won by Duke Kynan, was twelve dollars. While eight dollars still maybe too much for some members, it represents a number at which we believe costs can be recovered. In other words, we want to make events as affordable as possible without losing money on them. Also, while we haven't generated large amounts of funds, we have raised some funds. The impact of expenditures has therefore been minimized.

There are of course other expenses which the barony incurs and which will be discussed at the upcoming financial committee meeting. This meeting is currently being planned to be held at Toys for Tots on November 20. Members of the populace are welcome to come to the meeting though discussion will be limited to the members of the committee: Their Excellencies, Duke Verron, myself, Lady Ailleann, and Lady Celestina.

Should you have other questions about the baronial finances, or anything else, please contact me. It remains my honor and privilege to serve as your seneschal.

It continues to be my honor and pleasure to serve as seneschal.

YIS,

THL Jethro Stille
Seneschal of Caerthe

Cook's Guild

Greetings from Gwen Cat

Caerthes Cooks Guild will meet on Saturday, November 19, 2011 at 2:30pm at the home of Mistress Gwen Cat for an afternoon of cookies and perhaps some carols.

As has become tradition, we will create, bake and decorate an assortment of cookies to be donated to either their Excellencies, or sent off to someone currently serving in the military.

Feel free to bring dough to bake, cutters, decorating items, music, stories, a snack or libation to share; in short, anything you think might make the afternoon more enjoyable. No cooking or baking skill needed, decorators, quality control persons and entertainers most welcome. Please wear washable garb or mundanes.

Please contact Gwen Cat for address, directions or with any questions

Announcement From The SCA

Position of The Society For Creative Anachronism Regarding Charges of Child Endangerment Against Mr. Fremon Seay

Several recent news stories indicate that police in the Thurston County (WA) area are investigating Mr. Fremon Seay and Ms. Julie Seay for abusive behavior toward their daughter. The alleged abuse involved medieval-style armor and a wooden baton, similar to the equipment used in the competitive martial arts activities put on by the Society for Creative Anachronism, Inc. The SCA is a recreational historical re-enactment group with more than 30,000 members worldwide. According to the SCA's registry office, Mr. Seay is not a member of the Society for Creative Anachronism; his membership lapsed in 1995 and has not been renewed since that date. A formal safety authorization card is required in order to take part in any of the SCA's armored competition activities, and renewal of these authorizations is required on a periodic basis. According to the SCA's martial-arts safety officer, Mr. Seay's safety authorization expired in 2005 and has not been renewed. Armored competition with wooden baton "swords" is expressly forbidden outside of official SCA events and activities, as per the SCA's governing documents. The SCA does not allow or condone any illegal or abusive activity, and the group makes every effort to ensure the safety of all attendees at its events. Minors attending SCA events must be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

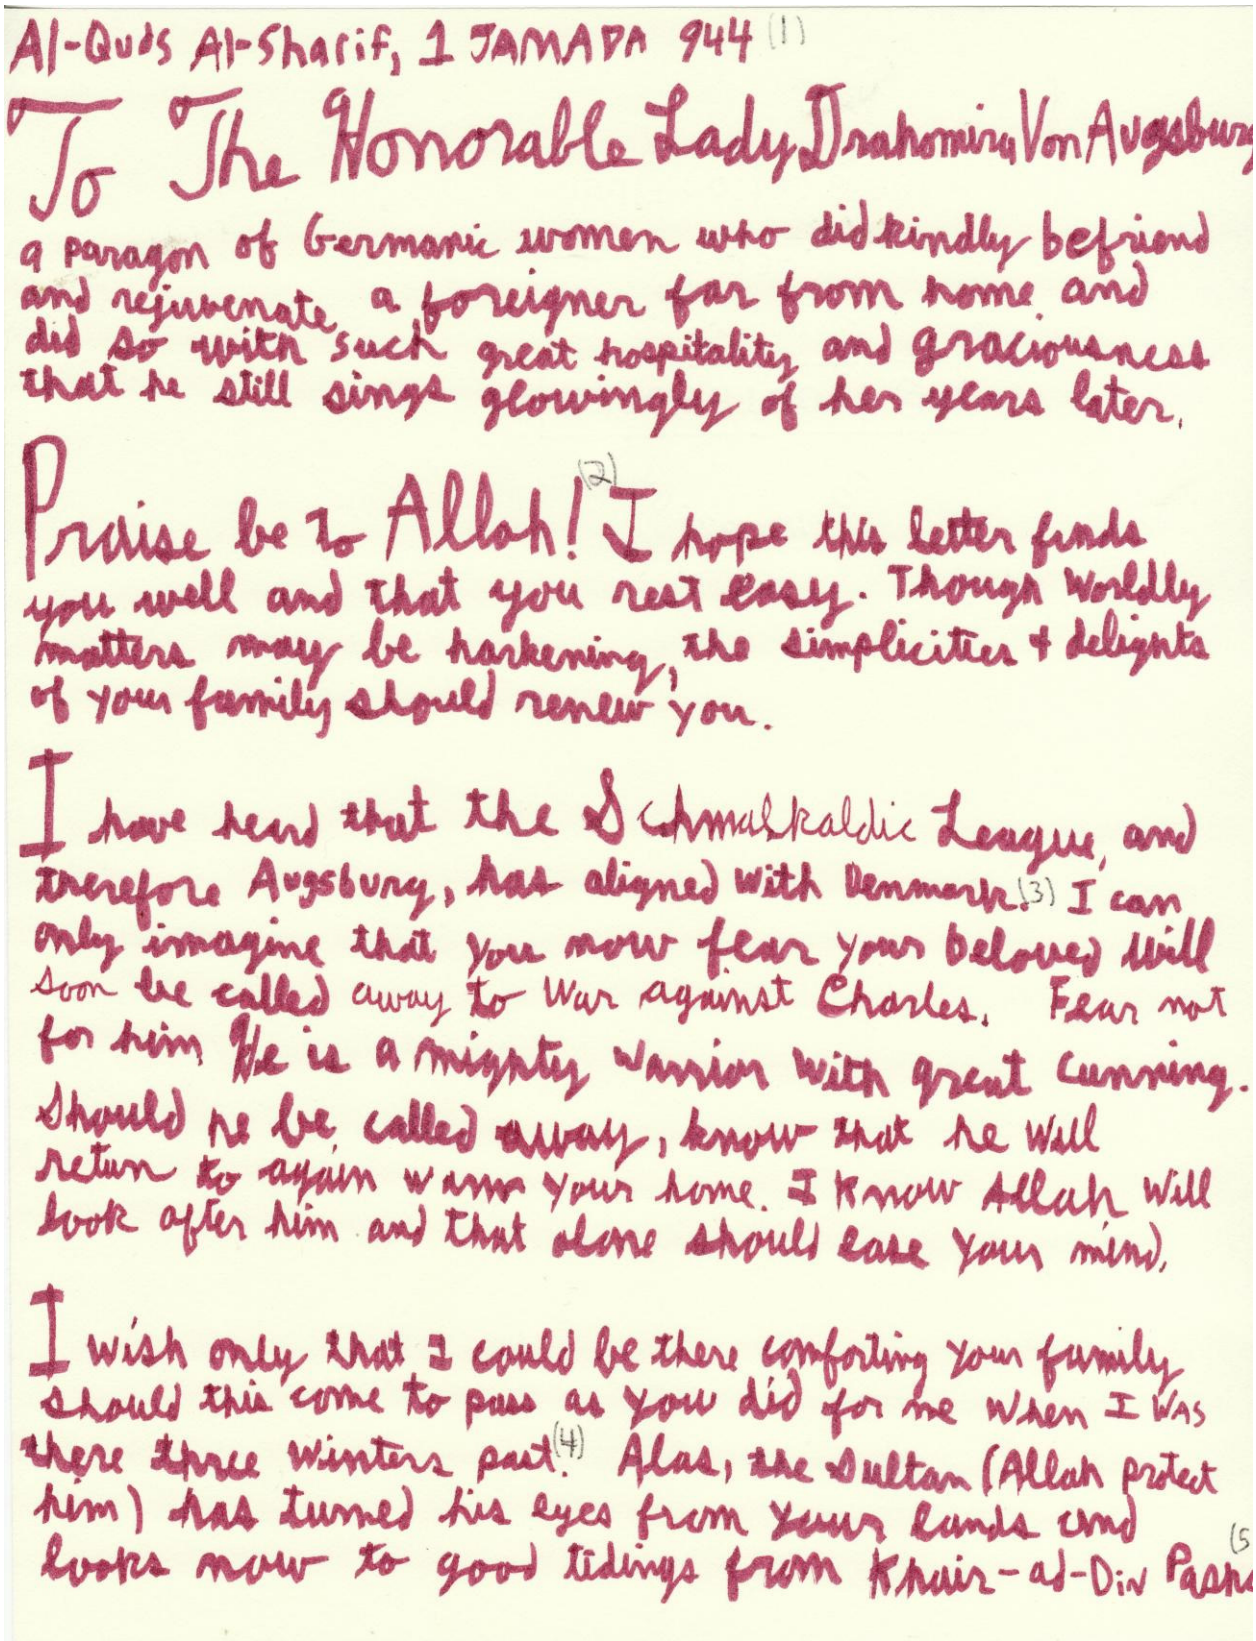
Letters Across Time

Suleiman ibn Da'ud to THLady Drahomira von Augsburg
A plain text version of this letter follows.



Al-Quds Al-Sharif, 1 JAMADA 944 (1)

To The Honorable Lady Drahomira Von Augsburg

a paragon of Germanic women who did kindly befriend and rejuvenate a foreigner far from home and did so with such great hospitality and graciousness that he still sings glowingly of her years later.

Praise be to Allah! (2) I hope this letter finds you well and that you rest easy. Though Worldly matters may be darkening, the simplicities & delights of your family should renew you.

I have heard that the Schmalkaldic League, and therefore Augsburg, has aligned with Denmark. (3) I can only imagine that you now fear your Beloved will soon be called away to War against Charles. Fear not for him. He is a mighty warrior with great cunning. Should he be called away, know that he will return to again warm your home. I know Allah will look after him and that alone should ease your mind.

I wish only that I could be there comforting your family should this come to pass as you did for me when I was there three winters past. (4) Alas, the Sultan (Allah protect him) has turned his eyes from Syrian lands and looks now to good tidings from Khair-ad-Din Pasha (5

I therefore have duties here in al-Quds al Sharif.(6) But the city gives me much joy. The red and yellow Zulfikar flag(7) is everywhere as celebrations abound now that the ancient walls have been rebuilt.(8) You should see the celebrations! Merchants from many places have trekked in and I have had occasion to taste wondrous foods of Wheir I had never heard.

Yet though the city gives me joy, I still have a deep longing. My longing grew when I recently heard from my wife in Egypt that my brother is now a father. Praise be to Allah! It was a boy! Praise be to Allah! Rahil tells me that Abu-Shihab(9) is overcome with joy. I long to see my brother and Shihab and to again be with Rahil. This is where I am faced with a dilemma.

After so many years of being away, I feel it may be time to look towards a new wife.(10) My desires are hard to control and one day I fear I will succumb to the sinful act of harvesting the olive branch as I know others have. This is why I think I should take a new wife while it is not forbidden under Sharia(11), I know not how Rahil will respond.

This is why I look to you. I need the female perspective. Were my longing not so deep, I would not even ask. Yet it is. I know also your vast wisdom and know that you above any other woman can give the honest and thoughtful answer.

Would that I could hear your answer in person and that I could return your generous hospitality which I would readily do. Until that time comes, I await your reply here in al-Quds al-Sharif. May Allah protect and keep you safe.

Merchants from many places have trekked in and I have had the occasion to taste wondrous foods of which I had never heard.

Yet though the city gives me joy, I still have a deep longing. My longing grew when I recently heard from my wife in Egypt that my brother is now a father. Praise be to Allah! It was a boy! Were you to so embark on a journey here, know that I would return your generous hospitality and show you this city in all its grandeur. It would be worth your trip. If there were no other reason than for us to once more share each other's company.]

Until that time comes, I await your reply here in al-Quds al-Sharif. May Allah keep you safe.

2) Islamic letters often started with praise to Allah and would also praise Allah throughout the letter

3) In 1538 the Schmalkaldic League, of which Augsburg was included, aligned with Denmark against Charles V of the Holy Roman Empire.

4) In 1535 Sultan Suleiman the Magnificent intervened through diplomats in the affairs of the Schmalkaldic League

5) Khair-ad-Din, aka Hayreddin Barbarosa, was the great admiral of the Ottoman empire and was in the midst of one of his biggest campaigns in 1538. Pasha is an honorary title. Ottoman titles generally follow the person's name.

6) al-Quds al-Sharif is the Islamic name for Jerusalem

7) Red and Yellow flags with zulfikars (double-bladed swords) were common in the Ottoman Empire and often carried into battle.

8) In 1538, the walls of the old city of Jerusalem were finished being rebuilt.

9) Abu is an honorific name given to a father. Abu-Shihab would be the father of Shihab.

10) Islamic law allowed for multiple wives provided that each one was cared for equally.

11) Sharia law is the religious law.

Meet The Officers

Name: Avram ibn Gabirol
AKA: Avi
Title: Lord
Position: Aspen Pursuivant (Herald)

When did you join the SCA?: AS XXV (1990), Caerthan 12th Night that year was my first event. I wasn't very active in Society, beyond an occiasional event or Estrella War, until AS XL (2006).

How did you find the SCA?: I worked in a comic store at the time and some of our customers talked me into going to an event.

Why did you join the SCA?: I've always been a huge fantasy gamer and history buff, and loved the idea of living the history rather than just reading about it.

Who was the first peer you met?: I knew many of our current peers before they were even proto-peers, so that's a tough question. But the first I remember making an impact on me was Sir Asad.

Who were the landed nobility/vicar of Caerthe when you first came to the barony?: I can't remember. Baron Patrick and Baroness Mary were the one's who helped get me involved actively, catching me and my lady at a Dinner and a Tourney and asking us to take the Baronial MOL and Waterbearer positions.

How did you choose your persona?: I'm Jewish in real life, and wanted to research a Jewish persona. Finding a place in history where Jews could own land and not be persected too much was what led me to a 12th century Spainish persona.

What do you like most about the SCA?: I love the creative outlets it provides - both in the arts and sciences and marshal activites. I also find a great place to raise my kids to be strong, caring adults - not everyone can say their kids have 20 parents watching over them at an event. And I have made friends here that go beyond anything I've see elsewhere.

What was a memorable moment in the SCA?: There are so many. Nights around countless campfires with friends and family. Receiving my first award in court. Drum circles at wars where you just get lost in the moment and the ambiance.

What plans/goals do you have for your office?: I plan to continue the fine work that my predecessors put in place. Personally I find that book heraldry is a weakness of mine, and I'm working hard to improve my skills there. I would love to see more heraldric displays at events, as it adds to the ambiance, and am planning some classes along these lines. I also hope to bring in and train new heralds, both for book and court heraldry, so that others can enjoy what we do.

What's a little known fact about you?: I have a collection of painted and stone eggs from places I have traveled to and gifts from friends and family.
